Gargoyle

Squat, rugged monster, chiseled in cold stone,
Your stormy jeremiad yet unhurled—
Immovable, austere, you sit alone,
With sovereign contempt for our small world.
Your staring eyes rebuke us in our strife,
Your grinning lips deride us in our dreams;
The masterpiece of color we call life
To you a child's daubed finger-painting seems.
Impervious on your judgment seat you scorn
Our very victories as our defeats:
You see no empires in our fields of corn,
No towers conquering our gutter streets.
Yet, at your back, we men you so despise
Carve other stones like you to mock our skies.

Foreword...

Gargoyles . . . silhouetted against the sky . . . immobile;

Within the walls that brace their backs, life moves . . .

And on these pages are caught the inspiring moments

And the humorous happenings that come to every person.

Future accomplishments will rest upon the wisdom & skills

Which have here been ardently and patiently sought.

The gargoyles need not fear for the future of 1940 youth

Who "Think as men of action, and act as men of thought!"

This is the record of our experiences...THE GARGOYLE.

COUNSELORS

"What are the requirements for college entrance?"
"Should I take physics or chemistry?"

These and hundreds of other questions like them are asked of our counselors every day. And from their great amount of experience they guide students in their choice of studies, keeping in mind the individual needs of each student; college requirements must be met by some, while vocational training is more important to others. In room 103 are drawn up the plans for the school days of each of the 2,500 students of South.

Miss Alenius and Miss Weber make up all the programs for the girls, while Mr. Grigs and Mr. Wood plan class schedules and plan the boys' programs. Theirs is the difficult task of pleasing everybody and of keeping classes within reasonable size.

Little do we realize, even after spending three years at South, the study and planning it took to make the building the outstanding piece of Romanesque architecture that it is.

The shape of the building, the brick designs, and the grotesque decorations over doors were all conceived after much study by the architect, Robert Garrison. In his zeal to make South as nearly perfect as possible the architect visited many historical Italian cathedrals. There he took the finest of their lines and the best of his own ideas, which resulted in the present building.

The three and one-half foot gargoyle placed above the west entrance to guard the sanctity of South is an exact copy of one on the Soleto Cathedral in Italy.

If the seventy-nine acres of playground which are back of South were completed according to the original blueprints, Rebels would have a skating rink, a toboggan slide, twelve tennis courts, bowling alleys, badminton and deck tennis courts. Then there are seven acres of lawn.

The building itself has about one hundred rooms, 4,000 lineal feet of stairs, and a floor space of 168,189 square feet. It cost $1,250,000 to build South.

South does its share of welfare work every year. During the early part of this year Rebels gave more than 1,600 garments to the Needlework Guild. At Christmas time they contributed 879 toys to the Santa Claus Shop for needy children. The annual Community Chest drive brought in nearly $150. When the call came for the Children's Crusade for Children, a nationwide campaign to raise money for refugee children in war-torn countries, sympathetic Rebels donated $98.

Two widely separated groups are the office staff and the custodians; yet South would be a very different place without either. Checking attendance, writing tardy slips, answering telephones, and collecting money are a few of the things that the office staff is called upon to do. Miss Dawson, Miss Soper, Miss Macker, and Mrs. Johnson comprise this very efficient group.

And, thanks to our efficient janitors, South is a clean, pleasant place for Rebels' work and play.

More than half the eighty-five teachers of South are graduates of various Colorado universities. Foreign nations and other states have contributed their part toward the further education of Rebels. Members of our faculty have studied in thirteen states and four foreign countries—France, England, Germany, and Mexico.

South is keeping pace with the progressive trend in education. This year general education classes were substituted for last year's core classes. Many teachers have attended workshops and schools so that they might better carry out this program. Two hundred seniors gave up valuable class time to take a series of tests compiled by Ohio State University for the evaluation of progressive education classes.

WATER WE WAITING FOR?

Come back, all you fellows—come back, one and all
And hark to Rialto's big plans for the fall.
The pigskin is waiting. Come, heed to its call—
Get down on the line and get over the ball.
The summer was fine but the autumn is better.
Who knows? If we work hard we may make our letter.

So here we are back at the old Alma Mammy
All ready to go—even Leon and Sammy.
We're drawing and training and tooting once more—
We start with a bang, and we're off with a roar!

Two down and three to go

Capturing autumn's glory

Brr, let's get hot

Well, here's Mr. King working out at the game—
He's awfully peppy, but looks a bit lame.
It may seem like sunburn, but really the fact is,
He went, darn the luck, and sat
on a cactus.

So now you see why, in a different locale,
Don Cedarblade laughs at his bosom-est pal.

How changed, from frontier scenes so hearty—
This (not a lynching) is a necktie party!

These four cannot leave South—they seem to fit.
Oh, I don't mean they're dumb—that isn't it,
But no one really leaves at all, you know—
The memories they've left won't let them go.

DEVELOPING A GOOD LINE

—MIGHTIER THAN THE SWORD

"Tell me what you read and I'll tell you what you are." This famous saying is really taken to heart by the students in the English, Contemporary, and American Literature classes. Everything from present day best-sellers and magazine articles to Shakespeare, Bacon, and Keats is studied. The girl or boy with an eye to the future takes College Preparatory English. There are many speech classes to help one gain poise. Drama classes are proving more and more popular to both the members and the student body, for they entertain the school with dramatic productions worthy of Broadway. Creative Writing spurs the person with an imagination to creative self-expression. Journalism classes fascinate a great number of South's students, and publishing the Confederate gives practical experience to the embryo newshawks.

With sixteen capable instructors in the many widely-distributed English courses, Southern speaking, writing, grammar, and spelling are constantly improved.

SEE AMERICA FIRST.

THE WORLD WE LIVE IN

Understanding ourselves and our position in the modern world is probably one of the most important things to be learned in high school. All this comes under the heading of social science. The Social Science Department, under the able direction of Mr. Ehrenkrook, is well known to all of us, for every student is required to take a certain amount of this work. Many of the most popular electives are also under the heading of Social Science: American Problems, where a broader knowledge of everyday affairs is acquired; World Relations, a study of present day international affairs; Psychology, which enables us to understand our own emotional make-up; Economics, which delves into the wonders of high finance; and Vocations, where individual vocational guidance is given.

Since it is one of the largest departments in the school, the social science courses differ widely, dealing with individual and world problems, the cave man, and modern vocational guidance.

Departments

EXPLORING THE WONDERS OF SCIENCE

HIDDEN WORLDS

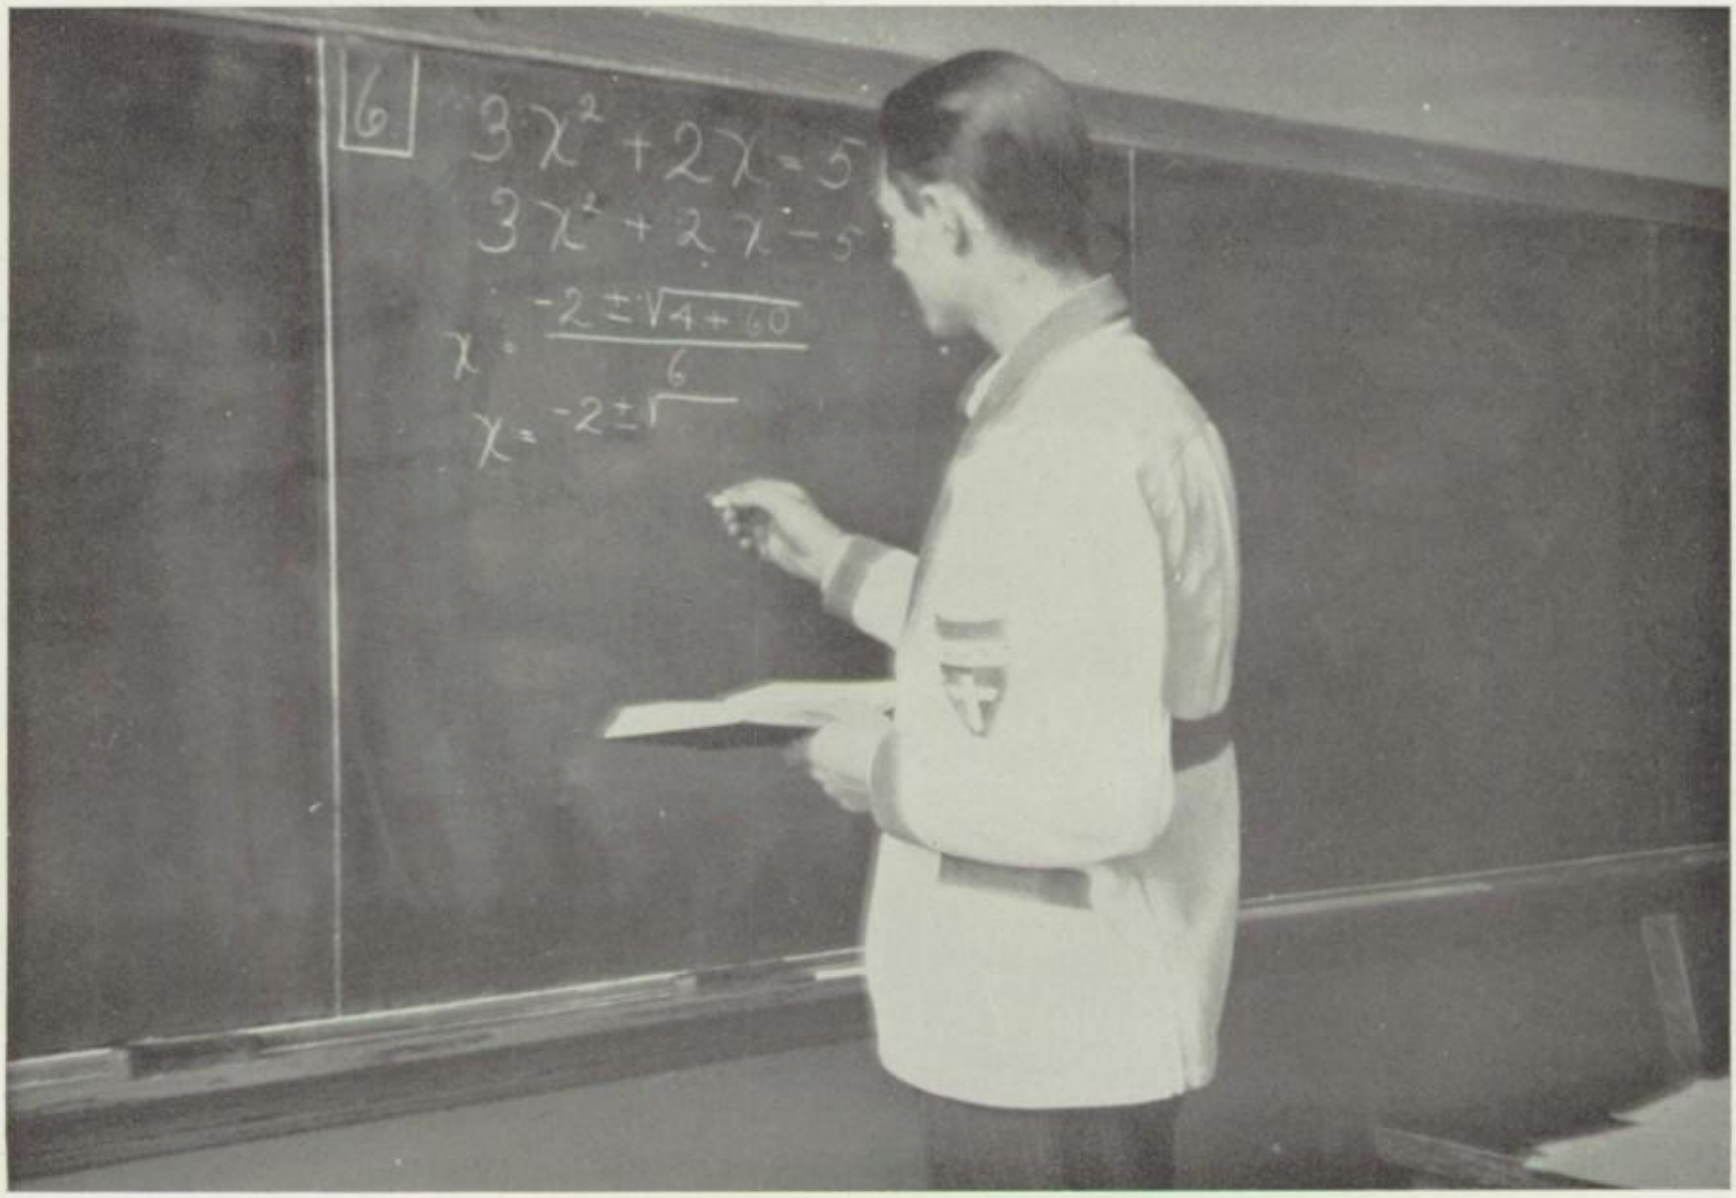
The Rebel who strays into the south end of the building is greeted by strange sounds and sickening odors, for this is where the Science Department holds sway.

Odors of hydrogen sulfide (rotten eggs to the uninitiated) pour out of the chemistry rooms where, under three able instructors, Southerners explore the make-up of matter. For those who plan to follow a scientific career, chemistry provides a good background, with training in laboratory technique and chemistry fundamentals. It helps the others to understand the constantly changing world.

The physics rooms echo with queer noises from the Wimhurst machine or the air pumps. Physics gives practical knowledge of motors, pumps, and electricity which everyone needs in these days of highly scientific living.

Biology makes an open book of the private lives of the lowliest and highest plants and animals.

The science curriculum also offers botany, geology, zoology, and astronomy.



"The power of thought—the magic of the mind!"

SOLVING THE PROBLEM

Since the world is still waiting for a machine capable of solving geometric and algebraic problems, a knowledge of mathematics in one form or another is necessary to the modern student. Supplying the needs of Rebels, South offers many forms of this complicated subject.

In one room are heard the words, "Let x equal the smaller number; let y equal the larger number; then $x + y = 10$." No one but an algebra student could find the answer to that.

"The square of the hypotenuse equals the sum of the squares of the other two sides"—meaningless words to everyone but the geometry fiend.

For those interested in engineering or other phases of higher mathematics, solid geometry, mathematical analysis, and trigonometry are given.

Lastly, for those of us who are sometimes stumped by fractions, long division, and the like, arithmetic review comes in handy.

What more could be desired than six fine mathematics courses with competent teachers?

Departments

"El Baile"—art is the same in all languages.

PALLET AND BRUSH

Every artist is an author. He tells a story with each line he paints. His subjects range from the dishes' clean faces shining in the cupboard to the dim shadows of a majestic building. Artists are often compared with musicians. With canvases as scales, they use the harmony of color as notes and produce a symphony of design and construction. Miss Fisher and Mr. Phillips guide Rebels in their self-expression. The art classes this year include craft work, poster work, commercial art, and the drawing of life models. Drawing and Painting, as always, is very popular. Many different materials are used to create the effects desired by the artists—oil, water color, ink, pencil, pastel, charcoal, lithograph, and poster paint. The students not only learn to draw and paint, but also to appreciate the work of the masters. The purpose of the art courses is to develop an intelligent awareness of the beauty in everyday surroundings and to lead the way to a fuller life.

THE BRASS SECTION

WITH A NOTE OF PRIDE

The last song is sung; the last sweet notes of the violins have died away; the house lights are turned on and the audience comes down to earth. Again our music department has excelled itself.

Miss Nelson and Mr. Hatfield are in charge of the vocal groups. There are opportunities here for all. Beginning classes for both boys and girls help to develop material for the Advanced Glee Clubs and for the A Cappella Choir.

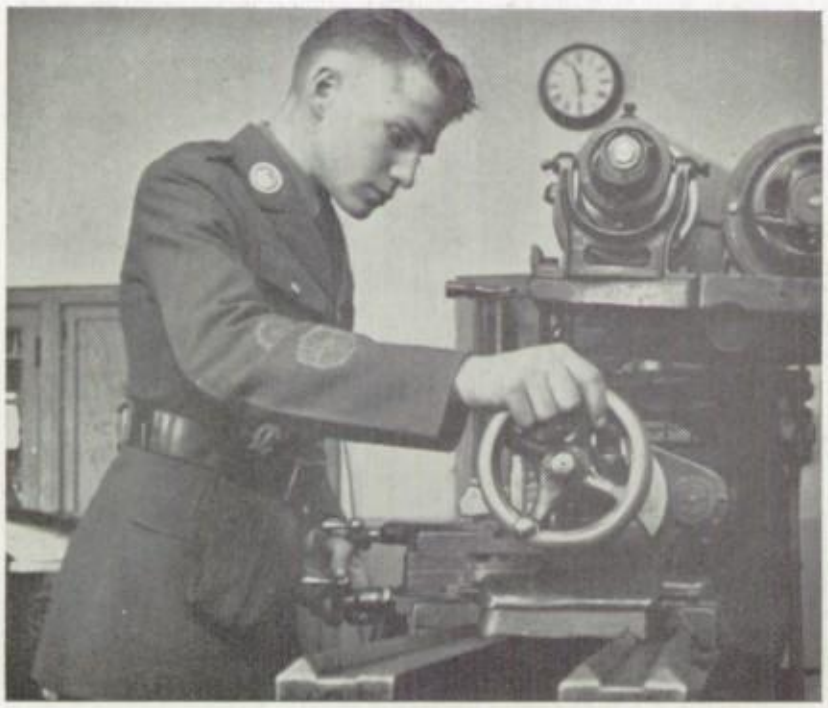
Mr. Roberts divides his attention among a symphony orchestra, a concert band—both of which have won statewide recognition—and instrumental classes.

"Hep, Hep," "Purple and White," and "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here" keep up our spirits when they are played at the football games by our loyal band.

The reputation for excellence which our musical students have earned by long, painstaking hours of work is increased each time one of the musical groups makes a public appearance. They have brought many hours of pleasure, not only to the students, but to the whole community.

—Just for good measure

WONDERS OF THE WORKSHOP



Every hour of the day the industrial arts rooms are virtually humming with activity—boys taking their "jalopies" apart, overhauling and putting them back together again in the auto mechanics shops; future engineers bending over their drawing boards; talented art students making posters with their dextrous hands for all important activities at South; boys in the wood and metalcraft shops making useful objects for their homes or for school; the stagecraft boys building the props and directing the lighting so essential to the success of our school productions.

The main purposes of all of these courses are to give the student vocational training which may prepare him for a future job and perhaps arouse a dormant interest in some specific field.

For many Rebels the industrial arts shop is a place of relaxation, where, tired of "book-learning," the "builders" can give their weary brains a rest and put their eager hands to work.

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating."

BUSY HANDS

"Man's work is from sun to sun, but woman's work is never done." And so it is that on the second floor of the east wing three teachers, skilled in the arts of the home, show girls how to get their work done quickly and easily. Gowns rivalling the creations of Schiaparelli and Patou are designed and, with great dexterity, stitched into attractive and useful garments.

Personality, grooming, manners, and the useful art of cooking are worked at diligently in the Applied Economics classes under Miss Burnham.

Greater than the torture of the rack is that suffered by the passerby inhaling the mouth-watering fragrance of fresh bread, cake, or cookies when the young chefs and cuisinieres are at work, and knowing that no one but the cooks and friends will get to eat them.

Practical experience is gained in child care by the girls from the Homemaking classes who are assistants at pre-school meetings.

All of which proves that the braves of South need not go hunting elsewhere for their squaws.

The best "type" of secretary

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS

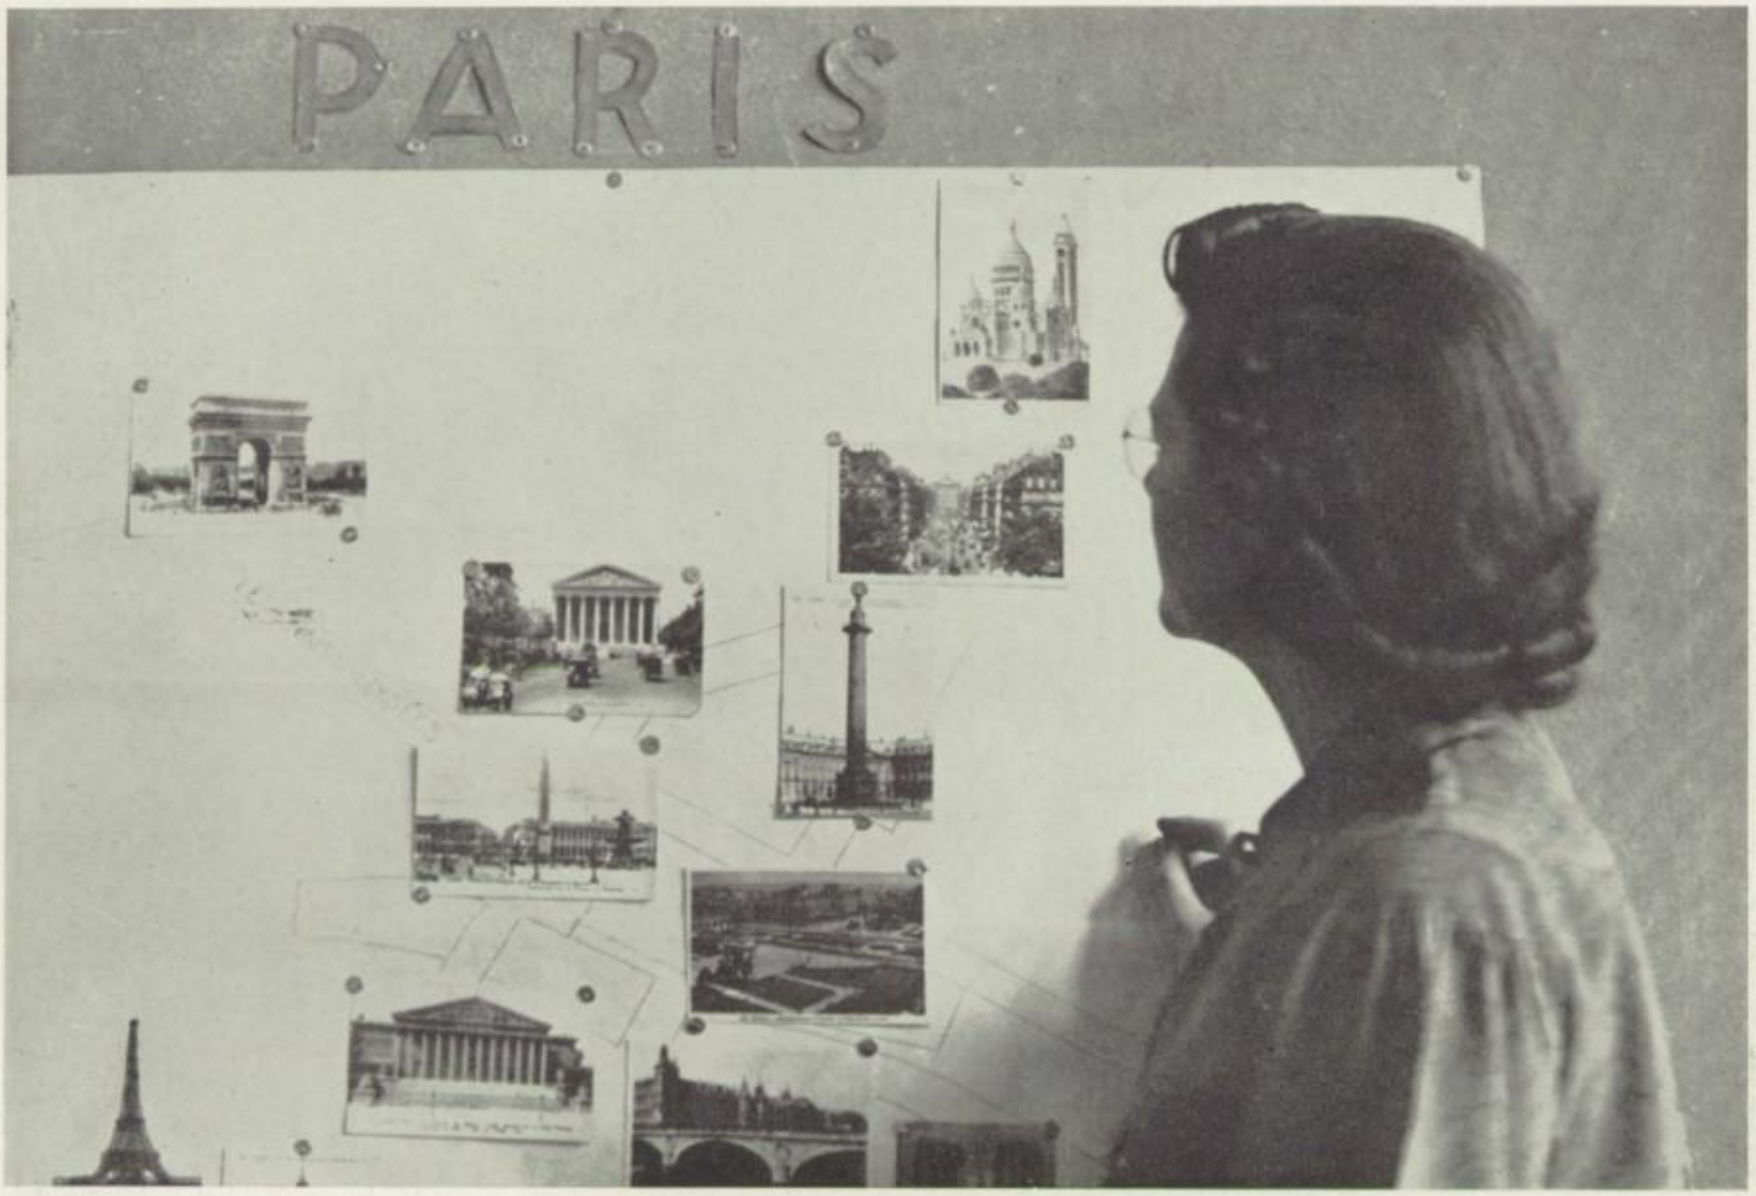
"Can you take a letter?"
"Will you keep the accounts straight?"
"You've got to be a good salesman!"
"When is a contract really a contract?"

From this barrage of questions the South High applicant should emerge unscathed and victorious. The many classes in the commercial department make it possible for anyone to master business principles.

Stenography, typing, commercial arithmetic, salesmanship, commercial law, and geography—all are offered to the student interested in business.

A commercial certificate is given to any graduating senior who has completed the required number of commercial courses with high grades. This award shows the employer the abilities of the student and the fields in which he has had training. Because of the high standard required to receive one of these certificates, only a few students earn them.

It's a lucky employer who hires a South commercial student.



Looking into the background of France

AS OTHERS SAY IT

South's language department is a veritable Tower of Babel. From one room comes the soft, lilting language of Spain, reminding one of dark-eyed senoritas and handsome senors; of bull fights and fiestas; of luxury, ease, and siesta.

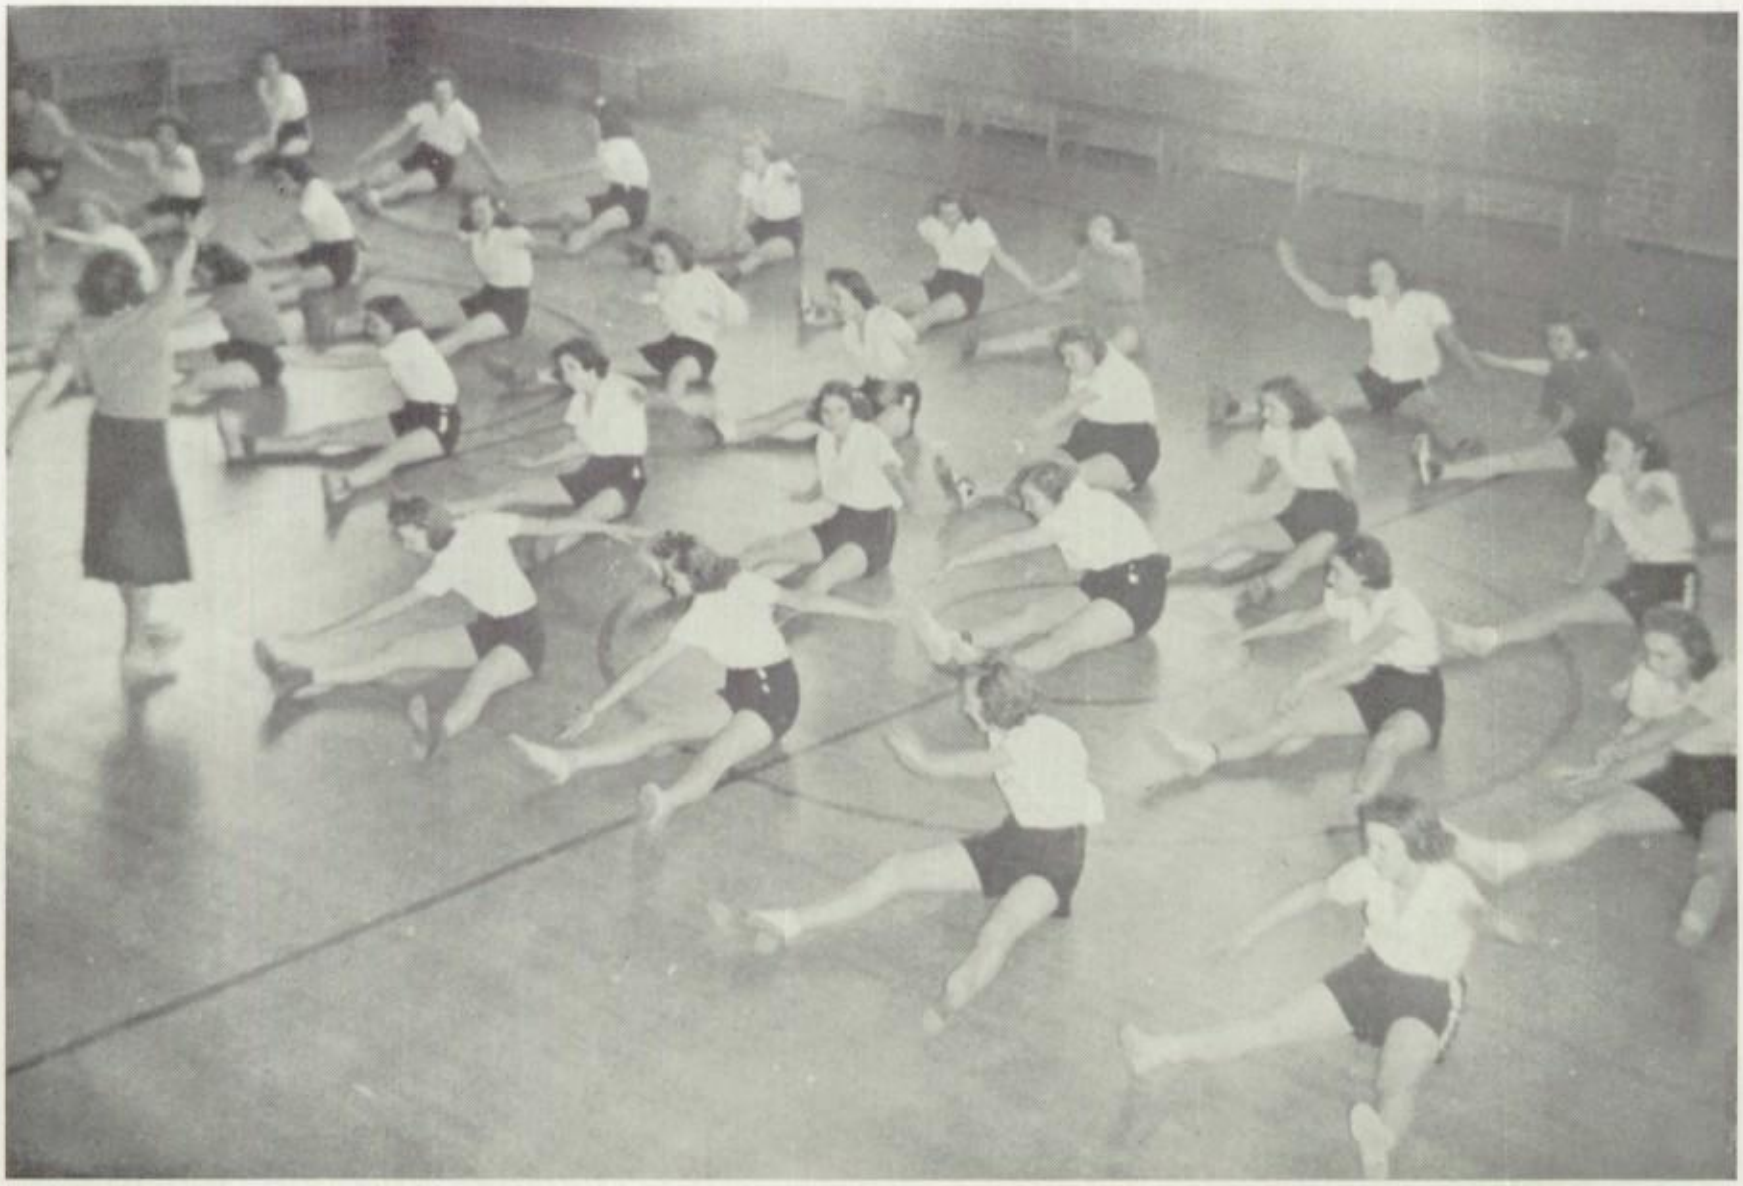
In the French rooms another musical language leads one into the fascinating highways and byways of an imaginary trip in colorful France.

Roman heroes hold forth in Latin classes. The atmosphere is heavy with battle plans, campaigns, victories and defeats.

Well-known tunes echo in the German classes, played by a German band which really has that catchy German rhythm.

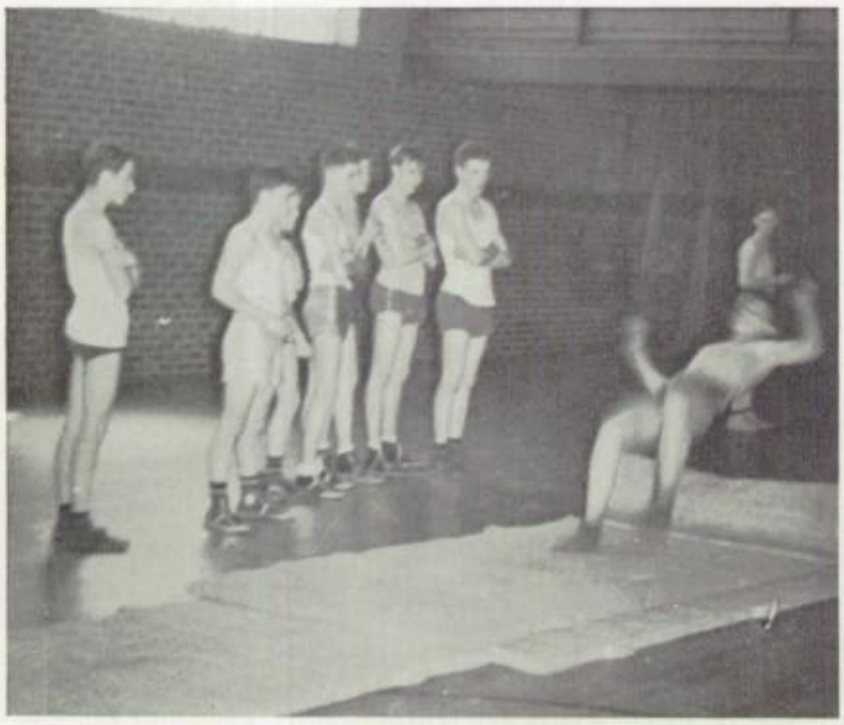
Although language is usually taken to fill entrance requirements, there is much pleasure and satisfaction in being able to cope with foreign phrases and to read great works of literature in their original forms. Each of us should have at least a background knowledge of one or more of the languages offered here at South.

Departments



YOUNG AMERICANS DISPLAY THEIR BEST FORM.

SPARTAN JOYS



"Too much work and no play" makes Rebels and Rebelettes dull . . . and a trifle too chubby.

The Physical Education Department under the direction of four capable instructors—Miss Patterson, Miss Desjardins, Mr. Stone, and Mr. Ketcham—is making the school year more enjoyable and healthful.

Clamoring for a place in the turmoil of school life, the girls' gym echoes with strains of accompanying music, the rhythm work, or with screams ensuing from a hard, fast game of basketball or an exciting game of ping-pong.

From the other arena come the loud shouts of the boys: "Shoot!"—"Knock him flat!"—"Smear him!"—all good clean fun.

The first co-ed class in Physical Education has made a big hit with Southerners and plans are being made for its continuation next year.

The department aims at making each student proficient in at least one game and an all around good sport. It is by playing together that Rebels really get acquainted with one another.

SCHOOL OFFICERS

KING FITZGERALD KOOGLE

I know of no better opportunity than this to thank South High, which includes the faculty, students, and my closest friends, for the wonderful background and excellent training they have given me. May the glory of South High School live forever in spirit and truth.

LeRoy King,
President.

My efforts and services at best, are poor expressions of my gratitude to South, for the unforgetable memories and pleasures I have gathered while here. May I take this opportunity to extend my sincere wishes for happiness and good luck to the entire student body.

Joan Fitzgerald,
Secretary.

It certainly has been great to work for such a wonderful school and class. May I express my appreciaton to all of you for your co-operation and loyalty in the past year. Here's to South, forever first in my memories—past, present, and future.

Keith Koogle,
Vice-President.

MAHONEY SAUNDERS WADDELL

ARCHERS

Seldom does an arrow, in flight, consider the course of its movement. Only the arrow of Time can pause to look backward and not lose pace and direction. And in the arrow of Time the Class of 1940 finds itself. From its romantic beginnings in Sherwood Forest, through its service in an Indian village, the arrow has shot onward and upward. And still straight and true, in a world where direction seems lost, the arrow—our arrow—seeks its target. By our own impetus we are made conscious of the goal in our very pointing towards the goal. It is with glad memories that we look back; it is with increased purpose, in the understanding of service rendered and service to do, that we speed on. It is a happy flight —the flight of the arrow.

FINNELL CURTIS BAILEY

LEADERS

When we were sophomores, we chose as our class pin the shako hat and the baton of that indomitable figure one so often sees at the head of a parade—the drum major, symbolizing our desire to lead.

And from our pin came the motto, "Whatever it is, we'll swing it!"

We have merrily twirled our baton through two years at South, and now, we could pause to look back—but no—we're only juniors, and it is still more fun looking forward.

Next fall, we will swing into our last year of high school.

What will it hold for us?

More than ever will we be known as the Leaders, for seniors must be leaders.

We are looking forward to a happy and successful year—and it will be—for they say you make your own luck, and we Leaders will make ours.

MR. WILLIAMS MISS RINGLAND

Best wishes always, Billie Marjorie

FOULK HORNING VAN BEBBER

OARSMEN

We sophomores entered South in a bewildered daze but soon grew accustomed to all the hubbub of South and made ourselves right at home. After once getting situated, we held faithfully to our chosen motto, "We pull together," and continued on our course as Oarsmen.

A sophomore has many obstacles to overcome while becoming accustomed to a new school, but if he has a certain goal in mind and is always steering toward it with full speed, he is sure to reach his desired destination.

If we sophomores hold true to our motto and steer a straight, clear, and smooth course together, our boat will never slacken its speed and we will land safely in our destined port as true and experienced Oarsmen.

MR. WALDMAN MISS STANCLIFF

STUDENT COUNCIL

The last word in student government is South's Student Council under the capable guidance of Miss Helen Burnham, the faculty sponsor. The council sees to it that the majority of the Rebels are satisfied with their school.

Made up of the presidents of most of the active organizations in the building as well as the nine class and the three school officers, the student representatives in the past year took charge of such affairs as the arrangements for Purple and White Day and the Thanksgiving breakfast. Another important issue which was brought before the council and voted down was the suggestion of having girl cheerleaders.

Headed by LeRoy King, student body president, with the assistance at times of the administrators in the building, the council exhibited one of the finest pieces of student governing that has been shown in a long time. The Rebels are indeed lucky to have such an efficient and well-organized form of student-controlled activities, which makes South one of the most progressive schools in the country.

REBEL CLUB

CHRISTMAS SHOP

"Hey there! Don't open that door! The Rebel Club is in session!"

Each Tuesday morning at eight o'clock, Carleton Hall's band of fifty purple jackets meet in 226 to discuss matters of the greatest importance.

The Rebel Club, composed entirely of prominent senior boys, is a booster organization with John Hamill as president, Malcolm Carpenter, vice-president, Ronald McPherson, secretary, and Arnold Kramish, treasurer.

During the latter part of February the organization, with the "S" Club, held a sport dance. The fellows put forth a good deal of work on this, but their labors bore fruit as the hop turned out to be a great success.

The Rebel Club displayed its true booster spirit during the Santa Claus Shop drive. No other club at South did any greater service during the year than did these boys in collecting toys for the poor children.

The club, which is almost as old as South itself, has no dues; however, each member is required to purchase a jacket.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Lost? . . . Ah, found! Another successful find for the National Honor Society in its effort to cut down on lost articles at South.

Although primarily an honorary organization for outstanding Rebels and Rebelettes who become known not only for their scholarship, but also for their leadership, character, and service, this group, as a service to the school, takes charge of the Lost and Found. Annually they dispose of the uncalled-for articles by means of an auction or a sale.

The pledges receiving the approval of Mr. Holm, the faculty, and the society members are admitted twice each year. They are required to pass a test on the N. H. S. constitution, to oblige the old members in any way requested while they are pledges, and to participate in a formal initiation.

With Mr. Frank Page and Miss Alfhild Alenius assuming the sponsorship duties during the year, and with Don Cedarblade, May Stiles, Zavelle Millet, and Malcolm Carpenter as capable officers, the society had one of the most successful years in its history.

PLEDGES GETTING THE WORKS

SPEAKERS' BUREAU

SHAFROTH SPEAKERS

The Speakers' Bureau, which was temporarily organized to aid in the Denver Community Chest's drive for funds, is made up of six outstanding speakers: Doris Gustafson, June Wright, Margery Scott, Don Cedarblade, Arnold Kramish, and Hazel Johnson.

The purpose of the group is to aid these young speakers in developing their speaking ability by placing them before larger and older groups than they had ever faced before.

During the course of the drive, many calls for students to address various clubs and organizations were handled by the group, each member giving at least two speeches.

In the extemporaneous speaking Shafroth contest both of South's contestants, June Wright and Jerry Brown, out-talked their eight opponents to win the two first places in the city after nine lean years of competition. Jerry Brown was also a member of the all-high school panel for the Kiwanis Club in Denver, along with four boys representing the other city high schools.

SAFETY COUNCIL

SO!

One of the most serving of all the service clubs at South is the Safety Council.

Each member of this group of thirty-two boys volunteers at least one period a day to taking a post in the halls. He also is on hand for all assembly programs in the auditorium to make sure that the members of the audience mind their "p's and q's."

Between classes certain boys are stationed at the stairs to see that ignorant Rebels use the correct flights for up and down-going traffic.

During the past year the members took an active part in the planning and presentation of the Fire Prevention program. In this program Martin Powell gave a demonstration of fire alarms and just what makes them "tick." And, speaking of fire, members of the Safety Council are expected to assume specially assigned posts at the ringing of the fire bell.

The Safety Council ushers at Parent-Teacher Association meetings, and at special evening programs, such as the school opera and all-school show.

In the spring all the boys cut loose from the old grind and had a shindig—MALES ONLY!

FIRST ROW: Cole, Dolan, Jeffrey, Trujillo, Richmond, Waldron, Wassen, Feister, Jones.
SECOND ROW: Mote, Fellows, Greene, Pannell, Stinnette, Gates, Elliott, Zelle, Gerton, Sheridan.

LIBRARY STAFF

Books, books, and more books. Some 13,000 of them. Fiction, essays, and poetry; etiquette, history, and biography; all can be found in South's well-stocked library.

Imagine looking through all of these books for one book if there were no way of cataloguing them and no one to put them away in order. It would be almost impossible if it were not for the library staff. There is more to their work than meets the eye. The students under the direction of Miss Ward, Miss Campbell, and Miss Paproski, the school librarians, assist in all the many important tasks.

OFFICE ASSISTANTS

Rivaling the Western Union and Postal Telegraph boys in their speed and punctuality, the office assistants, headed by Miss Ruth Soper, attendance clerk, in the office, are "Johnnies on the spot" when any work is to be done.

Acting as slip deliverers and collectors, as well as attendance clerks, typists, errand runners, and almost everything else, these girls, extremely proficient in their work, seldom receive due credit.

All the work is voluntary and means giving up much of their time and energy to keeping this Southern machine in order.

SIGN WRITERS

Want to advertise your dance?—your sale?—your meetings and campaigns? That's where the Sign Writers Club comes in handy.

Making original and colorful posters and signs at cost for any organization in the building is the group's way of serving South. The membership is limited to those Rebels who have completed one semester of mechanical drawing and have satisfactory grades in other subjects.

Much credit is due this group, for they aid in changing the dull halls into lively-looking corridors with their attractive bulletin board signs.

STAGE CREW

Little does John Q. Rebel know of what goes on behind the scenes during the assembly programs. Without a group of twenty-three lads led by Mr. Hal Kendig many a Southern program would "flop." This group is known as the Stagecraft Crew.

They meet daily as a regular class second and third periods and are on hand for every school assembly and the many public performances, setting the scenery, taking care of lighting effects and the public address system, and doing the many other backstage tasks. These boys embody one of the most important ideals of South students—Service.

IS IT COATED?

REBELETTES

What is one of the goals of every Sophomore girl who enters South? Why, to be a member of the pep club, the South High School Rebelettes. The one hundred and fifty members of this club were selected from the senior class, and they are proud to be South's leading girls' club.

As the most important social service organization in school they upheld their reputation very well this past year. At the beginning of each semester they gave a tea for all the sophomore girls. They served in the P.T.A. Drive and also assisted in the collections for the Needlework Guild. Ushering at the P.T.A. meetings, escorting our school heroes at the rallies, and drilling at football games constituted only a small part of their duties. Practically the whole club turned out to march in the Armistice Day Parade.

The Rebelettes edited the Southern Customs Handbook for incoming Sophs and also made and sold the familiar purple and white flashers. They served as hostesses in Miss Schoder's office and took charge of the costume room every period of the day.

This year a Pep Club scholarship was awarded to one of the most outstanding girls in the club. A committee of teachers and club members was responsible for the selection of this girl. They judged the candidates on four points: above average scholarship, friendliness, attractive appearance, and participation in school activities.

The Rebelettes are under the sponsorship of Miss Rubymae Evans and are led by Betty Leyda, president; Mary Ketner, vice-president; Jean Harris, secretary; and Harriette Mayo, treasurer. The drill-team sponsor is Miss Regina Desjardins.

LABORATORY ASSISTANTS

"Will you please go and get me the phenolphthalene?" . . . To the ears of the laboratory assistants this means one of two things: either a long, unsuccessful search or a good guess with immediate results.

This is one of the hardest working groups in school. Each of these boys and girls spends at least one hour a day in the science laboratories. Here they mix solutions, assist teachers, help run experiments, and generally keep the laboratories in working order. Each lab. assistant finds at the end of the year that he has acquired much knowledge through his experience.

SOCIAL HOUR CLUB

It's swing and sway with a home-grown outfit twice a month for Southern students who take advantage of opportunities offered by the Social Hour Club. Usually two socials are sponsored each month by the sixteen members of the club, under the guidance of Miss Weber and Mr. Morris.

Music is furnished by a student band which keeps its repertoire up to date with the nickles of the dancers. They offer the latest tunes, both swing and sweet, giving every type of dancer his chance to shine.

The aim of these boys and girls, to have bigger and better socials, has truly been accomplished.

ASSEMBLY CLUB

"Friday, special session. 10:02, general assembly."

This announcement in the weekly bulletin simply means thirty-nine minutes of entertainment to most of us Rebels. But to the twenty members of the Assembly Club, it may mean weeks of rehearsal and worry, for this club, with the aid of its sponsor, Mr. Vaughn, is in charge of every program presented in the auditorium. It is their job to decide what type of show will be enjoyed by the high school audiences and to secure these programs for our students. Their hard work should receive more appreciation from us.

ART SERVICE

During its first year at South the Art Service Committee has made itself popular by providing attractive dance decorations, lunchroom bulletins, and hall show cases around South.

The members chose as their co-presidents Bob DeVries and Alyce Mae Tovey, and Margaret Dendorfer, secretary.

Sponsored by Mr. Phillips, the purpose of the club is to create an appreciation of art by all the students at South High School and to aid in beautifying the building. Their work is well done and much appreciated.

PRE-SCHOOL ASSISTANTS

The pre-school classes of South Denver are greatly aided by girls from the Homemaking classes. Four girls go to each school twice a month to help the adult pre-school directors. Their duties and pleasures consist of helping the children down the slides, playing simple games, teaching them songs, and playing the piano for them during rest period. The girls take charge of the children entirely when the director goes to the mothers' discussion groups. These girls, in learning to cope with many childhood problems, find the experience valuable.

COUNSELORS' ASSISTANTS

The counselors' assistants—a group of students that we don't hear much about. These people, selected by the counselors, Miss Alenius and Mr. Grigs, give up one study hall a day to contribute their services to the school.

They have to be more or less "Jacks-of-all-trades" for they do almost everything. Typing, filing, checking, and rechecking, and alphabetizing, are only a few of their many duties. They help with the counseling, programs, office cards, and program cards. This group of students should be recognized as an essential part of South's school life.

The 1939 varsity football squad experienced an unusually exciting and eventful season. The highly touted sophomore football team, scored on only once, finished their league play in third place.

In his first year as football coach, Rialto Philleo produced a team with championship potentialities. But such tough luck as the disputed penalty that gave East a one point edge over the Southerners in their league opener and frequent injuries deprived the fighting Confederates of the city league trophy. Among the victims of the injury jinx were Eugene Brown, who broke his leg in midseason, and Bill Havens, whose knee injury was a big blow to the Rebel's championship hopes.

Jimmy Waddell, fiery guard, was acting captain during the playing season; Bill Brown, brilliant field general, was chosen honorary captain by his mates at the end of the season. Al Winegardner, end, and Bill Havens, tailback, were chosen on the mythical all-city team.

In their eight starts the varsity club won four to finish in third place behind East and West.

KNEELING: Mr. Atkinson.

SOPHOMORE FOOTBALL

The Soph's only defeat came at the hands of West's Cowboys, who edged out a close 7-6 decision.

This team of young Rebels boasted one of the strongest backfields in years and its team play was superb. Their stonewall line, which produced several promising stars for future years, made the team a rugged aggregation.

But no team could finish such a tough schedule as successfully as the sophomores did without powerful reserve strength. With over fifty lads out for the team, Coach Atkinson had no shortage of manpower.

In their non-league tilts, the sophomores were very successful as they won all of these games, including victories over Cathedral and Littleton.

Perhaps Mr. Atkinson's own words would best describe the team. He remarked, when presenting the team to the student body, "This year's team is the strongest team that I have turned out in my four years of coaching." Twenty-two men were awarded numerals.

GOLF

Taking runner-up honors, the Rebel golfers were among the best on the links in the '39 season.

They were the victors in ten and losers in six of their sixteen matches. Of the last six matches four were lost on the eighteenth hole.

Near the close of the season Kenny Lewis, a three-year veteran of Coach Randol's crew, was chosen honorary captain by his fellow drivers and putters.

Letters were awarded to eight fellows: Kenny Lewis, Ernie Soto, Arthur Apodaca, Aaron Smith, Jim Menard, Bob Malcolm, Bob Jacobs, and Wayne Mercer.

TENNIS

Under the skilled coaching of Farnum St. John, the Rebel "racqueteers" won two matches, lost one, and tied one to finish the tennis season in third place.

Although the team members were fairly strong in their singles matches, they showed up particularly well in the doubles with such pairs as Don Cedarblade and Charles Bolton, Ted Skinner and Ralph Leensvaart, Gordon Scott and Roger Klingler, and other competent couples of the court.

Just before their match with North, the closing battle of the season, the netsmen elected Ralph Leensvaart, an able southpaw, to the position of captain.

WRESTLING

In his first year as wrestling coach, Rialto Philleo was able to develop a team which placed fifth in the state meet.

This stout band of Rebel matmen was unusually strong in the heavier weights, with state champion Bernie Craig showing the way. However, much credit must go to the other Confederate grapplers who didn't win every match, but always displayed the finest sportsmanship.

Bernard Craig, state heavyweight champ, and the veteran Don Doyle were elected co-captains of the team. Athletic awards were earned by nine men, some of whom will return next year.

SWIMMING

Led by Don Self, who for the third straight year won the city diving championship, South's swimming team finished second to East's perennial champions.

The Rebel tankmen deserve a lot of credit for their fine showing in the city league. They had to go downtown to practice and had no cheering crowd to spur them on as most athletic teams do. The Reb mermen showed a fine spirit throughout the season and displayed enough strength to capture runner-up spot in the city meet.

As captain the team selected Donald Self, the team's only three-year veteran.

South High's basketball team, sparked by Jack Stirling, all-city forward, and LeRoy King, lanky center, finished second place in the city league and won the consolation flight in the state meet. The Rebel second team finished the season with a record of four wins and four losses.

The varsity five found themselves in the cellar with West at midseason in the hectic race. Then, the inspired purple-clad lads opened a drive which resulted in victories in all of their remaining league frays. However, East's Angels cinched first place before the end of the season.

The most dramatic moment of the season came when the vastly improved Southern quintet met the faltering North High five in the playoff for second place at West's gym. The Confederates, using a fast breaking offense and a tight man for man defense, played smooth and deliberate ball to win. Also, the Rebs took the fullest advantage of the Norsemen's numerous fouls. guard in the league, again turned in a classy performance.

Having finished second in the league, South was awarded a berth in the state meet. Fort Collins' tall team whipped the Southernmen in the initial game of the meet. But the plucky Rebs, who weren't discouraged by this setback, went on to defeat Colorado Springs and their arch-rivals, East High, to win the state championship consolation crown.

In his first season as South's basketball mentor, Coach Ketcham awarded letters to eleven men. LeRoy King was elected honorary captain by his fellow teammates.

The second team, made up of juniors and one sophomore, experienced a rather mediocre season breaking even in wins and losses. The seconds were able, however, to finish in second place.

Although they weren't a championship team, the boys gained much valuable playing experience. Coach Ketcham will rely heavily on the members of this team to carry the burden of next year's team.

The South High track team of 1940 was another one of Coach Garnet Stone's fine teams. Highly rated by experts at the start of the season, the Rebels lived up to all these predictions.

In their first meet the boys from the South Side easily ruled over North's track men. All parts of the purple and white team showed well-balanced power.

The Confederates competed in the Boulder Relays. Loveland's great team won the high school division championship while South placed fifth. John McAnally, Rebel ace, finished second in the high hurdles.

East High proved its track supremacy in the city triangular meet by winning it in the closing events. The Southerners finished a close second, ahead of Manual.

South's student body backed up the team in grand style. At every meet, a large number of enthusiastic Rebel rooters were on hand to cheer the trackmen on.

BASEBALL

Coach Jorgensen's baseball team went through a difficult 1940 season. Lack of experienced men and weak hitting were the Rebels' main handicaps.

The team never failed to hustle and gave their best whether they were winning or losing. As a result of this fine spirit, the team improved rapidly during the season.

The Southern diamond forces opened their season with a 6-5 decision over Manual. This was a close, exciting game in which the Rebels had to come from behind to nip the Bricklayers in the late stages of the game.

In one of the most exciting games of the season, East High eked out a 2-1 victory over the Rebels in their first meeting. The game was a ten inning thriller in which Bill Proctor of South and Tom Cristian of East hooked up in a pitching duel. A homerun in the tenth inning decided the issue in favor of the Angels.

Although the team wasn't the best in the league, it produced many stars for future teams.

G. A. A.

MISS PATTERSON

MISS DESJARDINS

Claiming one of the largest club memberships in the school, the Girls' Athletic Association is a group of girl athletes proficient in at least one of the many fields of sports.

Tournaments are held in four major sports—speedball and volleyball in the fall, basketball in the winter and baseball in the spring; and seven minor sports—tennis, horseshoes, ping pong, shuffleboard, archery, deck tennis, and track. Each minor tourney is held along with a major sport, although sometimes three tournaments are held at the same time. All competition is held under the guidance of Miss Patterson and Miss Desjardins, co-sponsors of the organization, and under the leadership of Sports Club members, who act as managers, coaches, and referees.

Points, given from time to time for participation in these sports, mount up until various awards are attained. The first hundred entitles the winner to a small purple and white "S", one thousand points, to a large felt "D" and membership in the Girls' Sport Club. Membership in the club is solemnized twice a year with a formal initiation at which time the honorary scroll is signed, a tradition with the club. All awards are given at G. A. A. teas which are held at various times during the school year.

One hundred points are given to each girl for entering a major sport and fifteen points for entering a minor sport, ten additional being given for each game played. Other additional credit may be earned by refereeing and coaching the various sports.

SPEEDBALL

"It's the kickoff! Block that pass! Tackle her!" No, it's not football—just the girls' speedball tournament getting under way, soon after the new fall term has rolled around.

Passing and dribbling their way over the goal to the top spot in the tournament, a junior team, having won all its games, was crowned the champion.

Composed of Phyllis Geib, Betty Dirmeyer, Margaret Ferris, Betty Rork, Charlotte Crock, Becky Kraft, Harriette Wilson, Daurine Weiss, Ruth Bloom, and Christine Sorbo, this group of girls brought the first G.A.A. major sport crown to the class of '41.

VOLLEYBALL

Volleyball!—a magic word to the girl who wants to have a lot of fun, good comradeship, and still not over-exert herself by running.

With Ruth Bradbury at the helm, the seniors took first place after winning an encounter with a junior aggregation. Thus they kept the crown which had rested on their heads from the time they won it in their sophomore year. The team members included Jeanette Keeton, Betty Dirmeyer, Carol Bruner, Ruth Bradbury, Sylvia Speicher, May Stiles, Lucy Denny, Nancy Herriman, Mary O. Jones, Shirlee Self, and Harriette Lundin. A junior team, only a half game behind the seniors, came in a close second.

BASKETBALL

Splitting the strings with uncanny accuracy in the basketball tournament, two teams deadlocked in a three-way tie playoff to share first place.

A 12B team took second place, losing only one match. The team members were Lois Long, Bessie Fisher, Alene Blomberg, Jessie MacDonald, Mary Gebow, Miriam Beck, and Dorothy Sherman.

The teams representing the junior and senior classes played one of the best games of the season, the final score being 2-2.

Lucy Denny was the manager, with Miriam Beck, Agnes TerHar, Jeanette Keeton, and Alene Blomberg as coaches.

A novel basketball game with the Girls' Sports Club challenging the "women" of the faculty was one of the highlights of the season. Winning 14 to 9, the faculty group was made up of Misses Ward, Patterson, Evans, and Macker, Mrs. Johnson, and two unusual "feminine" stars, Messrs. Philleo and Waldman. Lois Long, Bessie Fisher, Miriam Beck, Jessie MacDonald, Alene Blomberg, and Lucy Denny comprised the club group. All the points scored against the students were made by the two men, Coach Philleo leading the scoring with twelve of the fourteen points.

MINOR SPORTS

For the athletic individualists among the Southern sportswomen, eight minor sports tourneys are held each year. Two of these are put on while one major sport is going on.

Serving it up and dishing it out in real "Alice Marble" style, South's tennis champions were crowned early in the fall. Jewell Lundstrom, a senior, completing her first year of competition, was made queen of the advanced tourney, while Christine Sorbo took first spot in the beginning singles. The doubles combination of Betty Leyda and May Stiles seemed to have too much on the ball for their opponents and they won in the doubles division. Betty Leyda was the manager of the sport.

Following soon after the downfall of the racquets, came horseshoes and archery with Jeanette Keeton and Miriam Beck managing their respective sports. Phyllis Geib scored a ringer by winning the horseshoe singles, while Wilma Carr and Claire Winter outplayed their rivals to gain the distinction of being the winning pair.

Flying straight toward their mark, the Archery Club members dominated the "bow and arrow" tournament. Placing one, two, three in each of the two divisions, beginning and advanced, the six winners were: Advanced—Betty McDowell, Mary Gebow, Madge Jones; Beginning—Elizabeth Berg, Becky Kraft, Miriam Beck.

Although only in its second year of existence at South, badminton has become one of the most popular minor sports included in the G. A. A. athletics. Using a net and racket as in regular tennis, a shuttlecock is used in place of a ball. Jackie Emery, a sophomore, won in the singles, and the Lois Long-Bessie Fisher combination took control of the doubles. Sue Finnell managed the sport.

"Shuffling off" toward points and honor in the shuffleboard tournament, more than sixty girls entered the competition. Coming out on top after pushing their way through the dense crop of entrants, Dorothy Shinabargar won the singles competition, and a sophomore duo, composed of Margaret Woodhams and Jean McColl, won the doubles.

"Ping for pong"—a familiar expression to those versed in the art of table tennis. Coming soon after the boys' tournament, girls' competition was keen throughout the planned schedule. Jean MacLear was the champion of the singles, and she combined well with Joan Panek to win the doubles also. Margaret McPike managed this division of the minor sports.

Deck tennis has become another of the more popular minor sports offered. Jean Dolan had charge of this field.

Increasing gradually their scope in individual athletic fields, South's up-to-date physical education department has brought about a heretofore unheard of popularity in girls' athletics.

Putting out bi-weekly issues at five cents a copy, this year's Confederate staffs have set a new high in unusual and interesting paper content. Mrs. Grundy and her washline made their debut along with the well-liked "Rebel of the Week' 'column.

Turning socialite for an evening, the staff gave a banquet honoring their capable sponsor, J. Stephens King, early in December. A group picnic was also held in the late spring.

Lucy Denny and Catharine Spitler, editors for the first and second semesters, respectively, together with Mr. King and Warren D. McMahon, business sponsor, put out some issues claimed by many to be the best ever published at South.

Mr. Robert's aggregation, the largest in Denver, is recognized throughout the state for its ability, which is so well demonstrated by the concerts it presents to the public as well as to the student body. The South High orchestra truly helps to bring the finer side of music to all who listen.

The concert orchestra draws its fine players from the beginning and second orchestras, which train the students in the fundamentals of musical interpretation.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

The A Cappella Choir, directed by Miss Loraine Nelson, is one of the best-known organizations of South. The choir of sixty-five members, all gowned in black and white vestments, is an impressive group.

South's choir, the first of its kind in the city, is now famous. They have been in great demand by various organizations and clubs throughout the city this past year. Our choir gave two radio broadcasts, one of which was a national hook-up broadcast with the other A Cappella choirs of the city. They also sang in the City and County Building at Christmas time; their music was broadcast over Civic Center for the enjoyment of people admiring the decorations. They presented three assembly programs and two concerts, one in cooperation with the band.

The Beginning A Cappella Choir is a course that can be taken by invitation only and is a prerequisite for the Advanced Choir. The good work of the Beginning A Cappella Choir continually improves the material for the Advanced Choir.

The A Cappella Choir is the highest vocal organization in the school, and the voices for the choir are personally selected by Miss Nelson. Here's to a bigger and better choir in years to come.

THE INTERMEDIATE CHORUS

To the booming accompaniment of the basses, the tenors, sopranos, and altos all swing out in song after song—popular, semi-classical, and classical—as the South chorus practices daily.

Composed of both boys and girls, the chorus is capably directed by Mr. Sterling Hatfield. This group takes the place of the former intermediate glee club groups. At various times during the year this group contributed musically in assemblies singing selections—light opera, ballads, and sacred compositions. Although comparatively new as a course in the music department, the chorus is extremely popular among the students.

ADVANCED GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

Whether it be the ever popular "At the Balalaika" or the semi-popular "Prelude," the Advanced Girls' Glee Club, directed by Miss Loraine Nelson, can fill the air with strains of delightful music.

Making their starts in the beginning glee class, an honored few sing their way into the A Cappella Choir, while the rest are placed, according to merit, in the advanced glee, and the mixed chorus.

In the spring of the year, the Advanced Girls' Glee Club gave an assembly. The girls made a lovely picture in their pastel dresses as they sang beautiful music appropriate to the season of the year. Everyone agreed that it was an outstanding program.

RESERVE OFFICERS' TRAINING CORPS

A Southern group of 365 boys forms the largest Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit in Denver.

During the past semester the group met the last two hours of the day, receiving five hours credit if seniors, and physical education credit if sophomores or juniors. They advance in rank by tests on the technical side of military work, as well as by demonstrating particular aptitude in the field.

South's R. O. T. C. has won more pennants than any other Denver group, their rifle team ringing up two firsts and a second this year. In doing this they captured the Hearst National Rifle Team Trophy, and won first place in the city high schools' rifle team competition and second place in the state competition.

Sergeant W. Z. Slay is the unit instructor for South, while Robert Collier, Jr., is the faculty military instructor. Mr. Collier is in charge of the distribution of uniforms, making arrangements for South's participation in the field day, parades, and drills.

An officers' club is made up of the top-ranking cadets in the Rebel corps. Those in the club are Senior Captain Al Gallatin, Captain Walter Holmes, First Lieutenant Bruce Kinney, Second Lieutenant Phil Guild, and Second Lieutenant Jack Cooksley.

The R. O. T. C. Color Guard does a great service by raising and lowering the flag each school day, and certain active members took part in intramural sports at South last spring.

This year the cadets took time off from the old routine for a little activity on the social side—the annual city field day and ball, and several school dinner-dances. The Southern unit has sponsored nearly a dozen social events during the last year, all of which were very successful.

REBELETTE DANCE

The annual Pep Club Dance, which is always an outstanding affair, was a huge success.

The dance was based on a gridiron theme. Along the wall were silhouettes of the different members of the team, and the ceiling was decorated in bright autumn colors. The effect was very lovely indeed.

As in the past, it was girl's choice, with sport clothes the thing to wear. The girls really outdid themselves, both in attendance and appearance.

Jack Puckett, an alumnus of South, and his orchestra provided the music, playing songs dedicated to each football player.

The programs, in the shape of footballs with covers made to look like pigskin, were very novel and attractive.

The dance committee, headed by Rosemary Cassedy and Florence Culver, should be congratulated for one of the best dances of the year.

GADGET DANCE

Something really unique in dances was the Gadget Dance given by the Rebel Rangers this year on December 2. The committee—Thelma Thomas, Alice Tanton, Verna Decker, Shirley Self, Norlin Jankovsky, Steadman Howarth, and George Stamison—decided that the Rebels wanted an evening's fun without having to save for weeks to be able to pay for it. So, they opened up both gyms, rented a nickleodeon, gave prizes, set the price down low, and the dance was a great success.

"Why was it called a Gadget Dance?" was a frequent question asked the Rangers who sold the tickets. And they replied that all the money received from the sale of tickets went into a fund for buying gadgets—radios, typewriters, and victrolas needed around school—a worthy purpose. Southerners were emphatic in their requests for more such night socials. The highlight of the evening was the gift of a football signed by the team.

SENIOR PROM

Dim lights, sophisticated swing and gliding couples—the picture of the Senior Prom.

Softly colored lights of pink, yellow, blue, and violet threw their rays on the couples dancing to the music of Stan Koskoff's orchestra. Decorations were carried out in a Yuletide theme of blue and silver. The walls of the boys' gym were covered with black cloth on which large candles and stars were placed. A huge silver bell was suspended from the ceiling.

The committee consisted of twenty-one members. Bradley Heald, Mary Ketner, Alyce Mae Tovey, Jane Sprague, Dale Crist, Kenneth Jones, and Done Cedarblade, chairmen of the seven executive committees, were chosen by the class sponsors and officers.

JUNIOR PROM

The Junior Prom, which was held April 27, was said to have been the best Junior Prom South had ever seen. A huge white cloth covered the ceiling of the boys' gym and reflected the blue lights that were hidden behind modernistic flower cut-outs. The walls were draped in black and white to lend sophistication to the event. Stan Koskoff's orchestra provided the music, which was soft, sweet swing in keeping with the theme of the decorations. The small tables and chairs on the balcony provided rest for the footsore and weary. The big hit of the dance was the white-coated waiters who served punch to those who were thirsty. The committee was headed by Aileen Anderson and Bill Bruner. Fifteen other juniors also worked on the committee.

REBEL "S" CLUB DANCE

Swinging and swaying over the dance floor to the magic melodies of Stan Koskoff and his orchestra, many Rebels and Rebelettes had a highly enjoyable evening on February 24 at the annual Rebel-"S" Club hop.

No dim lights, soft music, and swishing of expensive gowns made up the picture of the dance. Instead, gingham, cords, and informal types of sportswear were correct for the occasion.

Refreshments took the place of the customary decorations, and a better musical group was selected with the additional funds.

The "S" Club committee was led by Bill Clark, while the other group, the Rebel Club representatives, was guided by John Hamill. David O'Keefe and Bob Thompson were in charge of the advertising for the affair.

More than two hundred couples attended the "swing session."

ALL SCHOOL SHOW

Opening with the colorful strains of the "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," the All School Show, February 16, was under way again for the eighth time. This year's production was under the able direction of Mr. Roberts, who also conducted the orchestra. Dancing, singing, and comedy were presented by talented members of the sophomore, junior, and senior classes.

The theme was built around Valentine's Day. A huge valentine formed the background for the rest of the program. Ferde Groffe's "Mardi Gras" was featured in the last unit. The teachers also participated in the production. Their barber shop quartet and magician act proved tremendous successes. The proceeds of the show were used to buy new radios and phonographs for the school.

PURPLE AND WHITE DAY

Purple and White Day! The climax of all the school activities during the year. This year our color day fell on May 17 and all the students—sophomores, juniors, and seniors alike, looked forward to the high point of a year of study, competition, and fun.

Purple and White Day has become one of the finest traditions of South High School. During the last few years the Student Council has taken particular pride in the fine spirit of cooperation which has been shown by the whole student body in all the activities of the day.

On this day the class which has earned the most points for their different activities has the privilege of crowning their class queen the queen of the school. The election of the Purple and White Day queen is a democratic process; petitions are circulated and a popular vote decides the winner. Energetic Rebels carry the petitions from class to class and through the halls, trying to get signers for their friends. As in past years, those that get the required number of signatures are put on the ballot. The queens are not announced until Purple and White Day at the morning assembly. The coronation of the school queen is held in the school auditorium the evening of Purple and White Day.

As LeRoy King says, "The tradition of Purple and White Day has survived the yearly ordeal of controversy and worry over discontinued pleasures on that day, and has finally brought to us again twenty-four hours filled with suspense, grandeur, humor, beauty, entertainment, and fun.

"Having had the pleasure of working on three Purple and White Days, I can truthfully say that this year of 1940 has brought me the happiest moments one can experience. The assembly, coronation, dance, all truly express the feelings of a Southern tradition that brings out the sportsmanship and united feeling between classes, teachers, and students."

SENIOR PROGRAM

The Purple and White program put on by the Class of 1940 proved to the rest of the school that the seniors live up to their motto. They aim to please; and with this program they really hit the bull's-eye.

The theme was the flight of the arrow through three years at South. Classical music held sway, as lovely girls in white formals added a graceful note. The climax was reached when the entire cast pledged allegiance to South on behalf of the senior class.

JUNIOR PROGRAM

"Lights! Camera! Action!" And another successful Junior Purple and White exhibition goes down in history with the dropping of the final curtain.

Featuring all sorts of entertainment the program brought out the "Leaders'" talented musicians, dancers, actors, and actresses.

The popular song, "The Isle of May," was used as the theme. Mickey Dolan came through with his usual nonsensical chatter; and that popular couple, Brenda and Cobina, put on a side-splitting act.

SOPHOMORE PROGRAM

Leave it to the sophomores to do something really outstanding, we always say. Their final program presented on May 10 was, as Mr. Waldman so modestly put it, "an artistic achievement."

With the action taking place aboard the "S. S. Sophie," sophomore singers and dancers put on some ot the most colorful and original numbers Southern audiences have witnessed this year.

REBEL RANGERS

"Four hands round Indian style
Stop and swing her once 'n awhile."

This is only one of the many square dancing calls which echo through South's corridors once a month. What club square dances? Why the Rebel Rangers, of course—seventy fun-loving Southerners.

This active group is led by Don McIntosh, president; Thelma Thomas, vice-president; and Marjorie Hoffman, secretary. It is under the sponsorship of Mr. Brainerd.

The club colors may be seen in the familiar green and white Rebel Ranger jackets.

The Rangers sponsored the Gadget Dance, one of the most successful night socials of the year. The money from this dance went for "gadgets" for the school, such as radios and phonographs.

Square dancing, theater parties, steak fries, and short trips from town are among the activities of this enterprising group.

JUNIOR RANGERS

TRIPLE "S"

As a great philosopher once said, "The essence of knowledge is, having it, to apply it; not having it, to confess your ignorance."

This organization offers an opportunity for the recognition of scholarship from the tenth grade through the twelfth. The qualifications for membership are at least two A's and all the rest B's in academic subjects.

With rejoicing, the newly elected member receives a purple and white card certifying his membership. Then he is entitled to buy the organization's emblem so that everyone may know he has met the qualifications of one of the most worthy and serviceable clubs in the school.

One purpose of the Triple "S" is to bring to the group outstanding speakers who are highly skilled in the artistic, the professional, the industrial, or the business world. These speakers come for the purpose of broadening the outlook of the members and giving them the opportunity to learn of the worthwhile things in life from people who are producing these things. As its contribution to the school at large, South's Scholastic Society extends invitations to certain classes in the school to attend these meetings when the speaker is of particular interest to the class invited. These meetings are held during school time.

Other purposes of the Triple "S" are to further a desire for high scholastic attainment in the school by the example set by the members and to emphasize worthy individual and group participation in all activities.

At their first meeting, South's Scholastic Society elected Jim Fluckey, president; Ruth Anderson, vice-president; Preston Lee, secretary; and David O'Keefe, treasurer. This club is ably sponsored by Miss Summers.

The organization, largest in the school, had a record-breaking membership of two hundred fifty-two students.

FIRST ROW: Andries, Simmons, Niblo, Swackenberg, Sayre, Bredehorst, Sandberg, Leinweber.
SECOND ROW: Dalton, Lamon, Prommel, Burritt, Peregrine, O. Smith, Fayram, Robertson, Kennedy.
THIRD ROW: Sawyers, Winter, Rork, Nevius, Millett, McCrary, Knight.

FRENCH CLUB

One of the best known clubs in South is L'Academie Francaise, sponsored by Mme. Combs. The organization is a combination class-club. Its members are selected from those in French 4 classes that have at least a "B" average.

Each semester the group chooses a subject for class study. Programs on this subject are uniquely presented by committees. Often the programs are supplemented by refreshments and field trips.

This year the club had a very unusual project. Various talented groups worked on scenery, costumes, story, and music for an opera, "The Adventures of Guignol."

There are two big social functions each year. In January there is a tea at Mme. Combs's home. The members and their mothers are invited. The climax of the year is the formal dinner held in May. Here the officers for the coming year are presented. The theme of the dinner follows the trend of the semester work.

FIRST ROW: Nelson, Morrison, Keen, Banks, Sterk, Klaversma.
SECOND ROW: Matthews, Knollenberg, Schnackenberg, Beatty, Steele.

GERMAN CLUB

"Auf Wiedersehen"—and another German Club meeting has come to an end; an interesting time was had by all.

Meeting every two weeks, this group discusses the German youth of today as well as the music, dancing, and even the food of the country. Various speakers, well-informed on certain phases of the Nordic life, often are guests of the club.

The aim of the organization is to develop interest in a country which has contributed so much to our modern civilization.

SPANISH CLUB

"In Spain They Say, 'Si! Si!' " In South they say just the same when Rebel Spanish enthusiasts meet to study our Southern neighbors, the Mexicans, and other Spanish-speaking peoples.

Open to anyone studying the language, the group studies the customs and traditions of "sunny" Spain's people, as well as those of South America. The club also endeavors to become more familiar with the Spanish language.

Mr. David Owen is sponsor of the organization.

FIRST ROW: Argall, Rogers, Sealing, Anderson, Dale, Leinweber, Simpson.
SECOND ROW: Jones, Plumleigh, Evans, Goodman, Griswold, J. Prommel.

FIRST ROW: Daniel, Andries, McCoy, Miss Rudolph, Shattuck, Cadle, Anderson.
SECOND ROW: Garland, Peebles, Hays.

FOLIO LEAVES

A poem, story, essay, or whatever you wish to write, is your ticket of admission. Signed with your nom-de-plume, it is judged and voted on by the members. Only the authors of the best pieces are admitted to this literary group.

Successful writers are often guest speakers, giving interesting and helpful advice to these future penmen.

Mary Shattuck, Hattie Cadle, and Miss Rudolph make Folio Leaves one of the best clubs in South.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

Can America Remain Neutral?
What Is American Democracy?

These were the subjects at the state and city conferences. Not only did the International Relations Club play an important part in these conferences, but they also attended many city-wide lectures. The club meets once a week to discuss current events and hear guest speakers.

The group is sponsored by Mrs. Pesman and was led this year by Roy Thompson and Jim Strain.

FIRST ROW: Seiler, McDowell, Tweedie, Sawyers, Peck, Self, Williams, Baird, Schnackenberg.
SECOND ROW: Thompson, Prommel, McCoy, Peebles, Bowen, Shattuck, Scaggs, Todd, Kramish.

FIRST ROW: Olson, B. Johnson, Richardson, Fern Siemens, Frances Siemens, Mr. McCulley, Parks, Loepp, Wilcox, Nance
SECOND ROW: E. Johnson, Crockett, Suwyn, Stavast, Gilmore, Nelson, Clark, Wilson, Woodhams, Kieffer, McVicker, Schnackenberg

BIBLE STUDY CLUB

"Study to show thyself approved before God."

South's Bible Study Club is following this quotation to the best of its ability. This club meets seventh hour three days a week. Together with the Hi-Y they sponsored the Community Chest drive. Dr. Harry Rimmer, a noted minister, spoke at an assembly given by the club.

This organization, under the leadership of Mr. McCulley, has as president Ed Johnson. The vice-president is Paul Lewis; the secretary is Lulu Farrell.

"S" CLUB

The "S" Club, South's leading sports club, consists of sixty members who have made a letter in any one of the varsity sports. With Coach Rialto Philleo as the sponsor, Miss Helen Burnham as the club mother, and Bill Havens officiating as president, the club had a most successful year.

Striving to be of service to the school, they sold tickets to the Father and Son Night. With the Rebel Club, they sponsored the annual Rebel-"S" Club Dance, which was, as usual, a big hit.

FIRST ROW: Perry, McBride, Hamill, Havens, Redding, Schwartz, B. Brown, Menard, Klingler, Skinner, Winegardner, E. Brown

GIRLS' FENCING CLUB

"Salute! En Garde! Advance!" These are some of the expressions heard in the girls' gym every Thursday after school. The Girls' Fencing Club is made up of thirty girls who are interested in learning the fundamental and finer points of fencing.

The Girls' Fencing Club has proved that it is one of the up and coming clubs of South, with Mr. Hall sponsoring it and Patsy Carpenter and Hazel Johnson assuming the responsibilities of president and secretary, respectively.

GIRLS' SPORTS CLUB

Brawn, brains, and snappy white jackets characterize the members of the Girls' Sports Club.

Having made the 1,000 points required for membership in the club through after-school participation in G.A.A. athletics, further honors await the ambitious girl, for 1,250 points entitles her to a "D" pin, and 1,500 points to a certificate.

The aims of the organization are to further good sportsmanship, encourage participation in sports, and to give greater service to the school.

FIRST ROW: Bradbury, Keeton, Ter Har, Shinabarger, Jones, Dolan, Stiles, Millett, Dirmeyer, Self.
SECOND ROW: Fisher, Beryle Long, MacDonald, Beck, Denny, Lundin, Speicher, Blomberg, Ketner, Leyda, Bruner.

THIRD ROW: Dillon, Haines, Sparks, Jones, Sinclair, Alexander, Harvey, Mills, Lynch, Bowen, Allen, Symonds, Pfiefer, Ek, Pavelka, McLeod, Knapp.

GIRLS' RIFLE CLUB

Ready! Aim! Fire! Yippee—a bull's eye! Don't be alarmed, it's only the girls on the rifle team shooting on the R.O.T.C. range.

With Mr. Ehrenkrook as the able sponsor, the local Annie Oakleys are led by Lois Warner, the president, Ann Chelf as vice-president, and Mary Belle Meadows as secretary-treasurer.

Six girls compose the team that annually enters the state rifle contests. A banquet is held each year at which time medals are awarded for merit.

ARCHERY CLUB

Rivaling Robin Hood and his merry band, although not made up of outlaws as the legend would have it, the South Archery Club under the sponsorship of Mrs. Wilson, aims to bring archery back into prominence.

Late in October, the club team easily defeated a group from West High, and placed well in many other contests held at various times.

Betty McDowell, Roy Burch, Mary Gebow, and Yvonne Scott are the officers of the organization.

FIRST ROW: Berg, Seeley, Gebow, Scott, Oughton, McDowell, Markham, Jones.
SECOND ROW: Self, Pennock, Brolliar, Beaghler.

FIRST ROW: Kenney, Brown, McKelvy, Colemere, Hittle, Volkema, Palmer, Fox, Vogler, Denny, Flora.
SECOND ROW: Miller, Carlson, Forster, Shephard, Thomas-Hazell, Tardif, Thornberg, Carlton, Lee, Welborn, Farkas.

HI-Y CLUB

Claiming to be the "highest Hi-Y in the world," South High's chapter of the Y. M. C. A. stands for clean living, clean speech, clean sports, and good scholarship.

At meetings, guests, including speakers from the "Y" as well as preachers, religious leaders, and businessmen, talk to the boys on various subjects.

In the Community Chest drive the members played an active part by collecting the school's donations. They also displayed their Christian spirit during the Needlework Guild and Christmas gift campaigns.

Besides its fine service to the school, the group participates in various city tourneys held for the different Hi-Y groups in Denver.

Mr. McCulley, who has sponsored the organization through many years of active service, together with Vernon Atkinson, the organization's president, and the other officers, Fred Volkema, Haskell Croy, and Ralph Leensvaart, guided the group through one of the best years in its history.

FIRST ROW: Leensvaart, May, Ochs, Bainter, Bradtke, Fox, Gustafson, Moore.
SECOND ROW: Mr. McCulley, Atkinson, Dobbs, Crouch, Johnson, Strain, Suwyn, Carter.

FIRST ROW: Miller, Pankow, Burritt, M. Stiles, Kidder, Mrs. Settles, Jeffrey, E. Stiles, Warner, Decker, McCarty, Easterly
SECOND ROW: Marshall, Hawkins, Powell, Schnackenberg, Grant, Long, Goodman, Skinner, Lidman, McKee

SKI CLUB

Swish! Flying past on wings of wood, bound for the valley via the shortest possible route, is another one of those ski enthusiasts who make up the South Ski Club.

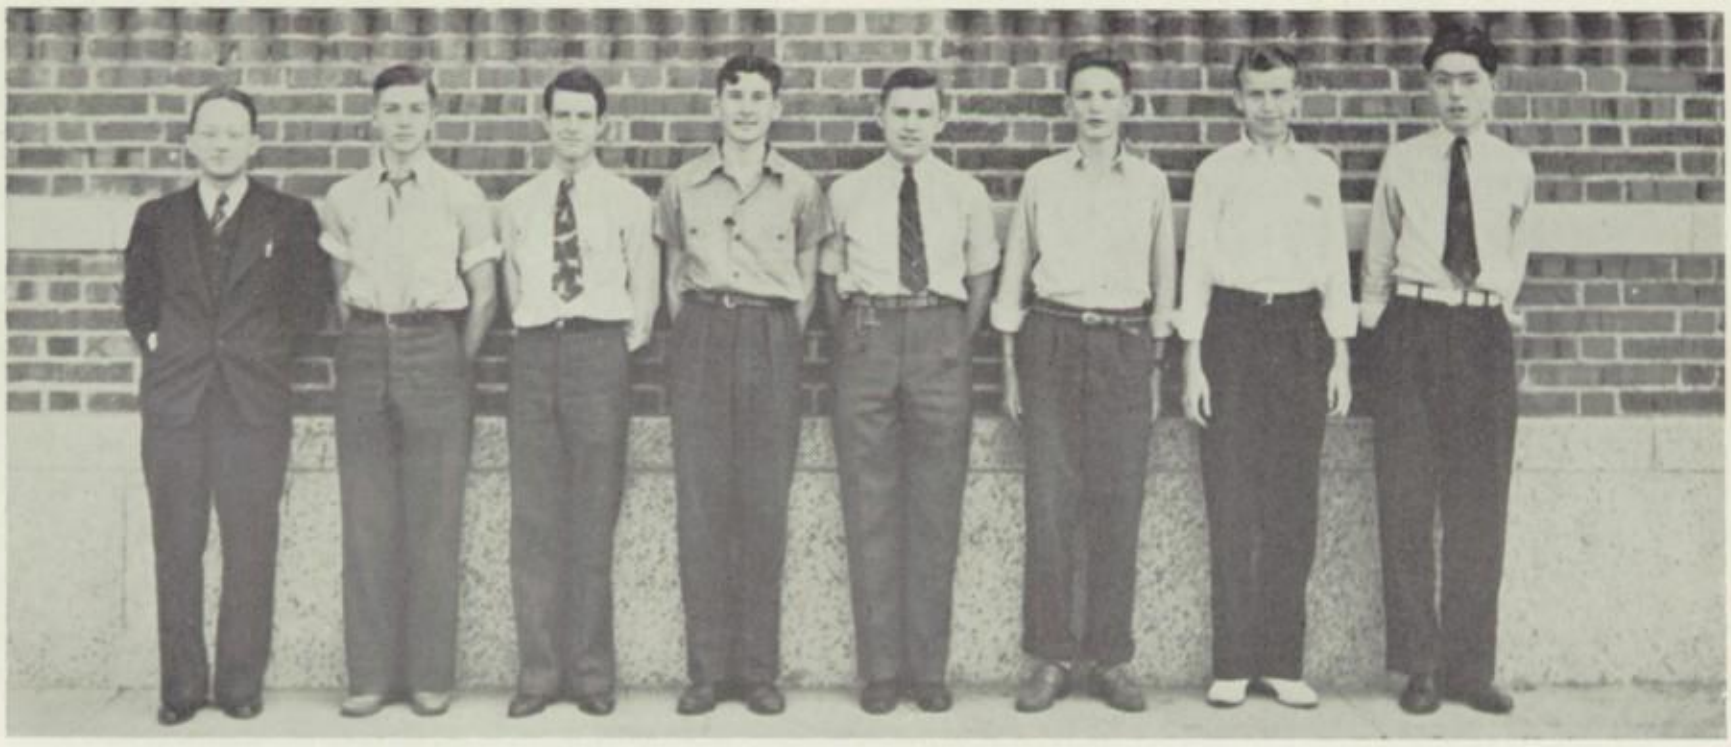
Movies, ski experts, talks, and winter outings in the mountains make up the outstanding activities of the group.

With Werner Schnackenberg at the presiding post and Mrs. Settles as the sponsor, the club completed one of the most active years since its beginning.

MODELERS

Airplanes, trains, autos, ships—miniatures, perfect in detail, are the result of the painstaking work of the Modelers Club members.

Using the dues paid by the boys, the club subscribes to several magazines that are helpful to them in their work. The members check them out and learn the latest developments in streamlined trains and automobiles, government plans for a new bomber, the new submarine just completed, or the newest battleships afloat.



Mr. Blanc, Hutchison, Moon, Roper, Griswold, Davy, Anderson, Booker

FIRST ROW: Brown, Bradtke, G. Conley, Sandburg, Mr. Heagney, S. Conley, Moore, DeHarport.

PHOTO CLUB

"Hold it. Thank you." . . . . This is heard often from members of the Photo Club. Mr. Heagney sponsors this interesting club; Norlin Jankovsky is president; David DeHarport is vice-president, secretary, and treasurer. The pictures taken by the club are tinted and developed at school in a special developing room. Cameras of every size and shape are used and studied. At the meetings several speakers and demonstrators have made this club one of the most interesting and enjoyable in South.

RADIO CLUB

"Calling all Hams—Calling all Hams—
Go to room 158. The mob is talking over radio."
The Radio Club has several "Hams" in it, and for those who don't know what a "radio ham" is—a "ham" is an amateur radio operator. However, this club is not only for those who are amateur operators. It is for anyone and everyone who is interested in talking about the radio. Primarily it is a discussion group that gets together to talk over what's happening in the field of radio.

FIRST ROW: Cope, Kyte, Debor, Babcock, Hedgcock, Sherwood, Jeffrey.
SECOND ROW: Stoft, Mr. Wills, Thomas-Hazell, Norton.

FIRST ROW: Bubenzer, Pastore, Smith, Apodaca, Menard, Kline, Rudmann, Hall.
SECOND ROW: Mr. Randol, Merchant, Aranjo, McConnell, Watson, Skinner, Oberg, Leyba.
THIRD ROW: Click, Jacobs, O'Donald, Robinson, Bronfin, Lewis, Malcolm, Buckley.

BOYS' GOLF CLUB

The Boys' Golf Club is for those boys interested in studying and playing that stupendous game—Golf. They are led by Jack Stirling, president; Ernie Soto, vice-president; and Kenny Lewis, secretary.

Sponsored by Mr. Jess Randol, the club had matches with Colorado Springs and Greeley as well as a tournament at South for members only. The group also sponsored the Intramural golf tournament for Purple and White Day.

GIRLS' GOLF CLUB

"Golf! The game of games!" to quote Mr. Bush, sponsor of the Girls' Golf Club. This group of girls is actively interested in golf. It holds tournaments and awards medals and prizes to the winners. The girls also have lectures and talks by professionals and amateurs. Then there is the social side of the club with luncheons and parties.

The Girls' Golf Club is led by Helen Nelson, president; Ruth Anderson, vice-president; Doris Stanley, secretary; and Jean Maclear, treasurer.

FIRST ROW: Jones, Metz, Maclear, Davies, Stoecker, M. Morrison, Stanley, Wachob, Nitch, Panek.
SECOND ROW: Long, Fisher, Alexander, R. Morrison, Heflin, Mr. Bush, Glover, Grissom, Nelson, Fitzgerald, Ammon, Anderson.

ENGLISH LITERATURE CLUB

"The fool doth think himself wise,
But the wise man knoweth himself to be a fool."
—Shakespeare.

This club was organized for the benefit of students who desired to study English literature more thoroughly. At its weekly meetings discussions of outstanding writers are led by the different members of the group.

Sponsored by Mr. Vaughn, the club is fast gaining recognition as one of South's outstanding clubs.

ART CLUB

With brush in hand and all of Colorado to paint, the South Art Club has made its debut into the realm of Rebel organizations.

Having only one entrance requirement, that of one semester of art training, the new group took many field trips studying various phases of drawing and painting.

The group is under the direction of the two art instructors, Miss Fisher and Mr. Phillips, and the officers, Betty Dyer, Shirley Weisz, and Jean Post.
